Invitations Out for White House Dinner Dec. 15.

MISS ELEANOR TERRY A BRIDE

Washington Girl and Lieut, Camperio, of the Italian Royal Navy, Wed in St. Thomas' Episcopal Church - President Will Attend Special Drill at Fort Myer To-day.

The President and Mrs. Taft have issued invitations for a dinner on Decem-

Mr. and Mrs. James Marion Johnston have cards out for a young people's dinner, December 27, in honor of Miss Taft.

One of the most beautiful of international weddings took place yesterday at noon in St. Thomas' Episcopal Church when Miss Eleanor Terry, daughter of Rear Admiral Silas W. Terry, U. S. N., retired, and Mrs. Terry, became the wife of Lieut, Filippo Camperio, royal Italian navy, formerly naval attache of the Italian Embassy in Washington.

The church was artistically but simply decorated with palms, smilax, and white chrysanthemums. The chancel was banked with tall palms; the altar vases were filled with white chrysanthemums, and pews reserved for the families were marked off with standards of white chrysanthemums. Mr. Aldrich, the organist, gave a splendid musical programme preceding the entrance of the bridal party and appropriate selections during the seating of the guests, and Mrs. A. T Freeman of New York, formerly Miss Grace McCullough, a school friend of the bride and for many years soloist in this church, sang a beautiful Representative and Mrs. J. Van Vechten solo. The vested choir sang the "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin" during the entrance of the bridal party. and "O turned to their Washington home. entrance of the bridal party, and "O Perfect Love" during the ceremony. The bride was escorted and given in narriage by her father. She wore a andsome gown of rich ivory satin with a full court train. The bodice was all of old point applique lace, which belonged to the bride's mother, and was draped over a fichu of satin embroidered in pearls, while the skirt was draped in chiffon in pannier effect. The girdle of soft satin and chiffon was caught at the left side with a chou of chiffon and spray of orange blossoms. Her bridal ears old, was held with a wreath of ange blossoms. The veil is an heirloom In the bridegroom's family and was sent to Miss Terry, who is the sixth bride to have worn it, by Mme. Camperio, the bridegroom's mother, for the occasion the bride carried a shower bouquet of lilles of the valley and Bride roses. Her ornaments were a superb string of pearls, Mrs. James Pilling and Miss Ruth Pilling, the gift of the bridegroom's mother, and two unique and beautiful diamond pendants, the gift of the bridegroom, both heiriooms in his family. Mrs. Carlos Cusach, of Annapolis, the matron of honor, was the bride's only black picture hat with a long plume, and carried a cluster of Bridesmaid roses. Marchesi Negrotto, the new counselor of the Italian Embassy, was best man. The ushers were Brig. Gen. Clarence R. Edwards, U. S. A.; Maj. W. V. Judson, U. S. A.; Lieut. Commander Newton A. McCully, U. S. N.; Capt. Archibald W. Butt, U. S. A.; Dr. Raymond Spear, U. Harry Day and Ralph Bloomer, eception and wedding breakfast for about 250 guests was served at Rauscher's Davis' String Orchestra played throughout the reception. The ballroom suite beautifully decorated with palms, white chrysanthemums, and white roses and white roses adorned the bride's table Terry, mother of the bride, was handsomely gowned in black velvet, trimmed with rose point lace, and a black hat trimmed with white plumes. Among the out-of-town guests were of New York, brother of the bride; Mrs Norris and H. P. Norris, jr., of Philadelphia; Mrs. Burnett, Mrs. Horner, and Mrs. Pace, of Louisville, Ky., and Mr. and Mrs. Van Ness and Maj. Barnes and Miss Barnes, of Baltimore, Lieut, and Mme. Camperio left later in the afternoon for New York, where they will spend several days before sailing December 10, for Italy. They will go first to Milan, where they will spend Christmas with the bridegroom's mother and later to Venice, where the bride groom is stationed.
